

Paul Olney appointed Radius Systems' Commercial Director

Radius Systems, the leading manufacturer of underground pipeline infrastructure solutions, is pleased to announce the appointment of Paul Olney to the position of commercial director, following Saeed Alavi's retirement.

Prior to joining Radius Systems, Paul, who lives in Somerset, was the sales & commercial director at Etex Building Performance UK, a leading provider of dry construction solutions, and has previously held a number of senior roles within the manufacturing, distribution and service industries. Paul will be responsible for the sales, customer service & support functions and will work as part of the senior management team on the business's strategy, with a focus on new opportunities and meeting changing customer expectations.

Andy Taylor, Radius Systems' CEO commented: "I am very pleased to welcome Paul to our organisation. His appointment brings a wealth of experience from the building sector and the skill set we need to achieve our strategic goals and strengthen our business. I would also like to thank Saeed Alavi, Paul's predecessor, for his contribution to the Company. Saeed was a great asset to Radius Systems during his tenure and we wish him all the very best for a happy retirement."

Paul said: "I am delighted to join Radius Systems and look forward to working with my team to deal with and meet the challenges ahead. Radius Systems has an ambitious vision for growth and I am keen to build on its achievements and deliver on its business growth strategy. Customer engagement is a fundamental part of our success and I look forward to working closely with our clients to understand their needs, meet their expectations and help resolve their challenges. To achieve this, we need to build the right services and support for our customers, from order to delivery, and this can only be achieved by developing the right synergy within our whole operation and establishing strong partnerships with our customers."

ENDS